

I believe that we need diversity of ideas and competition among television, radio and newspaper services in order that we get accurate and unbiased news. No organization or company should be able to own so many of these services that there is a danger that we lose the right to hear/read differing points of view.